

ward, Jr.

These wishing CEAR-
the business of the BLE
LESS, and with the
S. MARBLE
years experience he is saying that he can
and at lower prices country. If you do it he will tell you the but if parties wishing will call and
the benefit of agent's say that he will make those who employ him
GRANITE
anything in the Cem-
have furnished.
L. L. HOWARD, JR.
1882.
from sunset Friday, to

EMBER
THE Westlake
Non-Explosive
TOVES.

It quicker, and Broil or Gas Store manu-
awarded the Gold
LANTA EXPOS-
great variety and ent of the heating and
This award was
with Coal, Oil,
Coke, the HIGHEST France, Exposed
do. 1879.
do. 1879.
do. 1880.
AL at World's Fair,
1881.
WARD at Industrial Exposition, R. I., 1881.
AL at International
at Atlanta, Ga. 1881.
see the Wire-Gauze, operation, at J. O.
ard Ware Store, oppo-
Great Fire in Norway

of HARDWARE,
Tools, and other sea-
sule at lowest prices.
J. C. CROCKER.
29, 1882.
COST!
the time!
the place!
of this oppor-
ever have a chance
at such bargains
to undergo thorough
I offer my entire stock
nery at Cost
mainder of the summer,
I may reduce the same.
think this is mere talk; I I say.
the time is now!
the store of
E. C. CASE,
Norway, Me.

FACE COLE,
Oxford County for the
QUICK TRAIN
CHES!
way, Me.

a Court of Probate held at
for the County of Oxford,
Monday of September, A. D.
1882.
RED, Executor on the will of Norway, in said
having presented his accounts on the Estate of said deceased, for allow-the said Executor give no-interest, by causing a
to be published three weeks
the Oxford County Advertiser, that they may con-
to be held at Paris, in said
of Tuesday of October next,
forenoon, and show cause,
why the same should not be
paid. E. A. FRIE, Judge.
H. C. DAVIS, Register.

a Court of Probate held at
for the County of Oxford,
Monday of September, A. D.
1882.
E. Administrator with the estate of Catherine W. in said County, decedent,
has presented his account of administration of said decedent's estate, for allowance. The said Administrator give no-interest, by causing a
to be published three weeks
the Oxford County Adver-
tiser, that they may con-
to be held at Paris, in said
of Tuesday of October next,
forenoon, and show cause,
why the same should not be
paid. E. A. FRIE, Judge.
H. C. DAVIS, Register.

a Court of Probate held at
for the County of Oxford,
Monday of September, A. D.
1882.
LUCINDA A. BARTLETT,
the estate of Luther E.
Greenwood, in said County,
for license to sell and con-
the real estate of said decedent,
to be held at Paris, in said
of Tuesday of October next,
forenoon, and show cause,
why the same should not be
paid. E. A. FRIE, Judge.
H. C. DAVIS, Register.

a Court of Probate held at
for the County of Oxford,
Monday of September, A. D.
1882.
J. A. French raised nearly 70 bushels barley on an acre of ground.
Enoch Merrill and wife have been visiting their friends in Portland and Mass.
Deacon Cox's sister, Mrs. Sweetser, from Boston has been visiting in Norway lately.
Mr. Freeman Hutchinson has invented a new way to churn. The cream
after being put in a churn of his invention, is fastened to a vehicle and all he has to do, is to harness his horse and ride a mile or so and the butter is ready to take out. We understand he is to have the arrangement patented.
Ann Saunders, a crazy woman living
at Eugene Merrill's, was found on E. A.
Cox's doorstep last Saturday morning
having been out all night.

OXFORD CO. ADVERTISER

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 6, 1882.

BUSINESS SPECIALS.
Under this head notices will be inserted for ten cents per line for each insertion.
Two BUREAUX SEAMER-EXPOSERS found in the street between Norway and South Paris.
Locate at this office.
Lost! A pocket book, containing valuable papers, receipts, etc. Will the finder leave it at this office and receive a reward.

CARD OF THANKS.
We, the undersigned, desire to express our sincere thanks and gratitude to the many kind friends and neighbors, who tendered their sympathy and help during our late severe affliction, and, also, for the many beautiful floral tributes.
Mrs. E. C. ANDREWS & Family.

Norway and Vicinity.

Installation of the Rev. Mr. Jerome
over the Cong. Church, Gorham, N.
H., Oct. 24.

Oxford Co. Conference of Cong'l churches meet with the church in Andover, Oct. 17 and 18th.

Mrs. Moses Chesley of Oxford dislocated her hip three weeks ago and it was put into position last Wednesday.

Lecture at the Hall of the Universalist Church next Sunday evening at 7 o'clock, by Rev. W. A. Pratt of Bridg-ton. Subject, "Home."

The barns and out buildings belonging to Beare & Horne, situated on Pike's Hill was destroyed by fire Friday forenoon. Two hundred dollars insurance on the two barns. Loss $500.
Cause unknown.

E. W. Bartlett and Robert Moore of Paris Hill went from here to Lewiston last week, Wednesday, week ago, on their bicycles in two hours and twenty minutes. Mr. Moore entered the bicycle race at the State fair and took the first money. Time 4-14 for one mile.

Tuesday night a few young men visited a show tent on the Fair grounds.
During their stay, one of their number Fred H. True fell, as was supposed, in a fit, but before he could be removed from the grounds he died. The decedent was about 32 years of age and unmarried.

Wednesday and Thursday of next week, Oct. 11 and 12th, the Oxford
Co. Universalist Association will meet in this place. Meetings will be held Wednesday morning, afternoon and evening, and Thursday morning and afternoon. Wednesday evening, Rev.
G. W. Perry of Auburn will preach, and the other services will be interesting, as in fact the meetings of this Association always are. All are invited.
Friends are expected from different places in the country.

Rev. Mr. Wiswell gave a most excellent, interesting and instructive discourse on the subject of the mysterious death and burial of the great Law Giver of the Jews on the mount overlooking the promised land, last Sunday morning. He used no notes of any sort and held the undivided attention of the large audience for forty minutes, giving among other ideas of interest connected with his subject, many of the ancient legends connected therewith. Mr. Wiswell is a clear reasoner, a brave and generous thinker, always says something when he speaks, and never fails to interest his audience.

Norway Lake.

We had a splendid view of the blazing star early on Tuesday morning in the eastern sky. It is a marvellous sight.

Miss S. P. Newhall has had her block of buildings painted up in tasty style. Stephen Pottle was boss.

S. Partridge has met with a loss in the death of his horse. He seems to be all right again for he has bought another one, and comes out with a nice truck wagon this week.

C. W. and J. L. Partridge are feeding the hungry multitude at the Fair grounds this week. Their tables are always loaded with something good to eat.

Chas. E. Newhall is clerking for Geo. S. Ames.

C. W. Partridge has done a good job on the lake road by making two watering places. The town will be willing to pay him and the public will thank him.

Miss S. P. Newhall returned to Boston last week.

The recent rains have raised the Panneseewassee six inches or more.

James Smith has opened his shop
with a new stock of boots and shoes.

A hard freeze on Monday night had a chilling effect on our cucumber vines.

Meeting at the school house next Sunday evening.

North Norway.

J. A. French raised nearly 70 bushels barley on an acre of ground.

Enoch Merrill and wife have been visiting their friends in Portland and
Mass.

Deacon Cox's sister, Mrs. Sweetser,
from Boston has been visiting in Norway lately.

Mr. Freeman Hutchinson has invented a new way to churn. The cream
after being put in a churn of his invention, is fastened to a vehicle and all he has to do, is to harness his horse and
ride a mile or so and the butter is ready to take out. We understand he is to have the arrangement patented.

Ann Saunders, a crazy woman living
at Eugene Merrill's, was found on E. A.
Cox's doorstep last Saturday morning
having been out all night.

Mrs. Mary F. Butler died Oct. 1st very suddenly of congestion of the brain. Mrs. B. came from Nevada last May to visit her father, Isaac Hayes, and relatives who reside in Lewiston. She had, of late, been stopping with her sister, Mrs. Rollin Towne, who lives at Swift's Corner.
Her husband was in Dakota, was immediately telegraphed, and funeral services will be conducted Oct. 8. Mrs.
Butler was an estimable lady and will be deeply mourned. She leaves one child—a son.

Elder Libby, Advent, preached at the chapel Oct. 1st to a good congregation.

Samuel Foster has purchased the Oxpean Hobbs farm, so called.
First husking of the season at Henry Tracy's Sept. 30. Who next?

[Deferred from last week]
South Paris.

Mr. W. S. Gowell, who has had charge of a section on the Grand Trunk R. R. has accepted a more desirable situation near Boston, and expects to enter upon his new field of labor in a few days.

Father Brock is critically ill. He is the oldest citizen in the village, and is beloved by all.

Several cases of fever are reported,
but they seem to come and go rapidly.

The seventh annual session of Oxford
Co. Musical Association will be held at
So. Paris Oct. 24, 25, 26, 27. Prof.
Kotzschmar, Director; Harvey Murray,
Pianist; Mrs. Tewksbury's Organist.

A heavy frost Monday night.

Wm. Shaw's house is nearly framed.
Griffith Stuart proposes to build a residence soon.

The timber for Mrs. McFadden's house on Hill St. has arrived.

John Woodman expects to move to Michigan, with his family, in a short time, where he will engage in a partnership business.

William Brock, aged 85 years died on Tuesday night last. He was an honorable citizen and a devoted christian and his loss will be deeply felt by a large circle of friends.

S. F. Briggs is thoroughly overhauling and remodeling the cellar in his new market.

E. F. Stone's barn has been treated to a new coat of shingles.

Victor Greenleaf passed a very creditable examination before Judge Walton at the late session of the Supreme Court on Paris Hill and was admitted to practice. He will form a co-partnership with G. A. Wilson esq., of this village.

Rev. Mr. Fuller, a former pastor of the 1st Cong. Church, will preach at Norway Center next Sabbath at 10:45
a. m. At 2 p. m. a Children's Concert Exercise will occur at the M. E. Chapel, North Norway.

Rev. Mr. Tyrie and two comrades of Auburn will be present at the Grand Army meeting of Harry Rost Post on Friday evening and several from Paris and Norway will be mustered in at that time.

[Deferred from last week]
North Waterford.

Our fall term of school taught by Miss French of Lewiston is first-class.
Miss French is one of the best-class teachers.

Mr. F. A. Noble has the best garden in town. His crops will exceed those of many of the old farmers.

There are several quite sick ones in village. Mrs. Geo. A. Hale, Mrs. Nell Monroe, also a daughter of Mrs. Whitcomb is very ill.

Mr. Jas. S. Grant is unable to be about.
Mr. Chas. M. Longley of Haverhill, has spent a few days at home.

Mr. G. I. Hamlin, of New York, is stopping a few weeks with his sister, Mrs. W. W. Watson.

Mr. and Mrs. Briggs have gone to their Pittsburg home.

Mrs. Twitthell, of Bethel, is visiting her many friends here. Mrs. T. is 85 years old, and smart as smart can be.
She will get in and out of a carriage
like a "gall."

Mr. John Swan and wife start for their new home in California next Monday.

Hor's apple evaporator is hard at work.

The Albert Stanwood Bucket Factory is offered at a very low figure.

"Call" tells us the boss snake story.
Yesterday, one in the swamp, he killed
11 wallowers all in a row. We think Call got mixed a little, as the big one was big as a large lamp chimney and only a foot and a half long. Out of demonstration, Call.

Mrs. M. A. Rowe, our fashionable dressmaker, has gone to Boston. Wait, ladies, a few days for the latest style.

"Taters" are a very scarce vegetable here.

[Deferred from last week]
Albany.

Mrs. Mary J. Cummings, who has been very sick and all hopes of her recovery given up, is now convalescent and quite comfortable.

Mr. John Cummings and his wife,
quite aged people are both sick.

Mr. Geo. French who has long been in feeble health continues to be wasting away gradually.

Mr. Cyrus Chaplin has purchased a farm in Oxford at Welchville, whither he intends to move with his family soon. He leaves a good farm in Albany which he offers for sale at a good bargain.

Farmers are digging their potatoes.
Some get a very good crop, others light; corn crop fair.

Austin Hutchinson has a pair of oxen, girding seven feet and seven inches, good for work or beef, which he offers for two hundred and ten dollars. He recently sold a pair smaller for $150. Mr. Chaplin sold pair of two years old steers for $70.
This doesn't look much like hard times for farmers.

Bolster's Mills.

Charles S. Cook, a graduate of Bates College, has gone to the eastern part of the State to take charge of a high school.

Johnson W. Knight died in Casco,
Sept. 25th, aged 74 years and 2 months.
He was born in Oisfield, where he resided till he was twenty-four years of age. He then married Miss Harriet Holden and moved to Casco Village where he lived thirteen years, when he moved to "Spurr's Corner" in Oisfield, where he resided twenty-six years, and then returned to Casco Village, where he spent the last ten years of his life.
Mr. H. was an active business man, by trade, a carpenter and carriage maker.
He always felt interested in building up the community in which he lived, by building houses to attract others to the place where he resided. He has filled important offices of trust, having served as town clerk, auditor, treasurer, selectman and representative to the State legislature. He has been a Justice of the peace about forty years.
His last sickness was brief but severe,
being a brain difficulty. He leaves a widow, two children and a large circle of relatives to mourn his loss. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. A. B.
Lowell at the church in Casco, where where a large audience assembled to sympathize with those who mourn.
Mr. Knight will be greatly missed in the social and business circles where he resided.

Message's Notice.
OFFICE OF THE SHERIFF
OF Oxford County.
STATE OF MAINE.
Oxford, ss.—September 20, A. D. 1882.

This is to give notice, that on the twentieth day of September, A. D. 1882, a Warrant in Insolventcy was issued out of the Court of Insolventcy for said County of Oxford, against the estate of William Harmon and Whited S.
Megaw, debtors, at Auditor's Office, at Auburn, under the firm name of Harmon & Meg-aw, adjudged to be insolvent debtors, and petition of Henry J. Mills and Joseph W.
Katon as creditors, which petition was filed on the fifteenth day of August, A. D. 1882, to which was annexed a list of creditors, and which list named debt interest on claims is to be computed, "the payment of any debts and the delivery and transfer of any property belonging to the estate of said debtors, or for their use, and the delivery and transfer of any property by them are forbidden by law; that a meeting of the creditors of said debtors to prove their debts and choose one or more Assessors, to be held at Paris in said County, on the eighteenth day of October, A. D. 1882, at nine o'clock in the forenoon.

Given under my hand the date first above written, C. M. WHITELL, Deputy Sheriff assigned to the Court of Insolvency, for said County of Oxford.

Whitecomb & Locke ARE RECEIVING THEIR NEW STOCK
—OF—
Fall and Winter
GOODS!

CONSISTING OF A GOOD LINE OF
BLACK AND COLORED PLUSHES, VELVETS AND SILKS,
Black and Colored Cashmere,
STOODA CLOTHS, FLAIDS, &c.

We have Suiting Flannels
in all the new shades, at BOTTOM PRICES!

We would especially invite attention to Ladies' Vests!
at the popular price of 50 cents, which we claim to be the best vests for the money to be found anywhere.

We also have
LADIES' VESTS & PANTS
in better quality in White and Searlet.

GENTS' UNDER WEAR,
in great variety.

Our Stock of Woolens & Shirting Flannels
is large and will be sold low.

We have added largely to our stock of Boots, Shoes, & Rubbers!

An examination of our Hand Sewed work for Men's wear is invited.

Ladies' French & American Kid Boots,
in different widths.

ALSO, A FULL STOCK OF GROCERIES!
which we will sell at Lowest Living Prices!

NOYES' GROCERY STORE

Is the place where you will always find a Large Fresh Stock of

Choice Family Groceries and FLOUR!

—ALSO—
Tempting assortment of FRUIT and CON-FECTIONERY, TOBACCO & CIGARS, GROC-ERY, GLASS WARE, &c.

Special inducements to Cash customers.
Please give me a call.

F. H. NOYES, Norway.

J. U. P. BURNHAM,

PHOTOGRAPHER!!
Cottage St.,
NORWAY, ME.

Photography in all its branches, at reasonable prices. Copies, Views, &c.

Just Received at
C. N. TUBBS & Co's,
St. Louis "Roller Process" Flour!

OF THE BEST MAKE.
Try it. Call and get the prices.

New Goods!

—AT—
M. M. Phinney's.

Silks, Velvets, Blk. & Col'd Dress Goods,
all at prices!

Also, G-4 DRESS FLANNELS,
all colors, for $1.00 and $1.10.

Shawls, Ladies' Cloaks and Cloakings; Large Stock of

UNDER FLANNELS for Ladies, Gents, and Children,
in Searlet and White, from $50. to $1.75.

Also SHIRTING FLANNELS, Woolens, for Men and Boys' wear.

Table Linen, Blankets, Pound
Prints, Crashes.

Also the best quality of BROWN SHEET-
INGS in Half Cuts, for 75c.

REMNANTS—nice Bleached Cotton,
for 85c.

Together with a full Stock of Dress Fringes, Lace Trimmings,
Ornaments, Buttons, Corsets, Hoop
Skirts, Rubber Capes, YARNS, HOSIERY,

And all Goods usually kept in a CITY
DRY & FANCY GOODS STORE.

Remember we buy and sell for CASH, and have one price for every one.

I take this opportunity to thank my customers for their liberal patronage for the past three years, and hope by keeping a first-class store, and attending strictly to business, to merit a continuance of the same.

Very Respectfully,
M. M. PHINNEY,
Norway, Me.

New Goods.

The subscriber has just received a large and carefully selected stock of

Dry Goods, Etc.,

adapted to the FALL and WINTER
trade, making one of the largest stocks in the country.

HAVE THE FOLLOWING IN STOCK:
CASHMERE in different shades;
ALPACAS;
BROCADE MOHAIRS;
DRESS FLANNELS of every description;

DEXTER WOOLEN GOODS;
PRINTS: FOULARDS; MOMIES;
SILKS; VELVETS;
Special bargains in Ladies' and Gents'
Under Wear, Ladies' and Misses'
Rubber Circulars;

Puffs, Corsets, Hosiery, Gloves, Skirts,
Hoop Skirts, Shirting Flannels,
Remnant Prints and Sheetings,
Carpet Warp, Warp Yarn,
Ball and Skein Yarn,

large stock of Umbrellas, together with all kinds of Small Wares.

Also, CARPETING—all Wool,
Cotton and Wool, Hemp, Straw-Matting, Oil Cloths, Oil Mats, Rugs, &c., and all grades of FEATHERS.

Have in addition to the above, a choice stock of

GROCERIES.
Thankful for past favors from the public, would still ask a continuance of their patronage.

E. W. HOWE,
Main St., opposite P. O.
Norway, Sept. 26, 1882.

Special Notice!
T. G. GOODWIN,
Respectfully informs the public that he keeps on hand the needed assortment of

Burial Caskets,
which includes VELVET, CLOTH,
and CRAPE covered.

—ALSO—
UNDERTAKERS' SUPPLIES!
Old Stand Main Street, near Academy.
Norway, Me.

WHITCOMB & LOCKE
HAVE JUST RECEIVED
300 Bbls. New Flour
of different grades, which they are selling at prices that will pay anyone to lay in a year's stock.

Rollers, Winter and Spring Patents!
For those who want the best Flour
to be had, we recommend PULSBERY'S Best. All flour warranted.

WANTED!
3000 Bu. Apples!
At once, at the WINSLOW PACK-ING CO. CORN FACTORY,
Norway, Me.

Good sound rural natural fruit; also wind-falls, Baidwins and Greenings suitable for packing and coming will be taken, and a liberal price paid for the same on delivery.
Apply at the Factory.

1000 SHEETS MUSIC;
Vocal and Instrumental!
At 5 Cts. per copy, at
H. COLE'S JEWELRY STORE, Norway, Me.

Hobbs' Variety Store

Will occupy this Corner for 26 weeks, to Advertise as many

SPECIAL BARGAINS

—IN—
Crockery, Glass, Tinware, and Lamp Goods!

100 Dozen Cups & Saucers! English White Granite.

At 2, 2 1-2, and 3 cents each, or 24, 30, and 36 cents a Set.
Cups without Saucers, or Saucers without Cups. One Thousand useful articles in stock at low prices.

Stop and Read.
Largest Stock & Lowest Prices
—IN—
Oxford County!
—AT—
J. F. ALLEN'S,
Norway, Me.

Have just filled up my store with Boots and Shoes!
bought of the best and most reliable manufacturers in New England.

They Were Bought for Cash,
AND WILL BE SOLD VERY LOW!

Call and examine; no trouble to show
goods.

Boots, Shoes, Slippers, Rubbers, Etc.,
—FOR—
Ladies, Gents, Girls, Boys, Farmers,
Mechanics, and every body.

Boots and Shoes made to order. Also Repair Work done, at

ALLEN'S, opposite Elm House.

John F. Fitz's Store,
Main Street,
Norway, Me.

The largest and best assortment of Canned Goods,
Meats and Fruit.

Confectionery, Fruits, Nuts, & Fancy
Groceries, Jellies & Preserves.

KENNADY'S CRACKERS a specialty.

DEALER IN
Fresh Fish, Oysters,
SALT MEATS, FATS, MACARONI, AND TOMATOES.

NEWS OF THE DAY

GENERAL ITEMS.

General Crook is personally investigating the troubles in the several Indian tribes.

Diamonds worth $12,000 were boldly stolen from a showcase in the Cincinnati Exposition.

Four negroes were killed and many wounded during a political fight at Lancaster, S. C., on Wednesday.

Secretary Taylor has decided to re-open for settlement 10,000,000 acres of land in Northern Dakota which were withdrawn by Secretary Schurz.

Thirty-six new cases of yellow fever and two deaths are reported from Pensacola, Florida.

A board of inquiry has been appointed to investigate the loss of the Jeannette. The relics and records of the Jeannette have just been turned over to Secretary Chandler by Engineer Melville.

A church was demolished by a cyclone on Wednesday evening, during services, at Newton, Kan., without seriously injuring any of the congregation.

General Benjamin F. Tracy was nominated by the Republicans for Justice of the Supreme Court for the Second Judicial district of New York.

A remarkable legal struggle is now going on in St. Louis between Mrs. Wackerle and the Mutual Life Insurance Company of N. Y. City. The company have produced a man they claim is Wackerle, whom the woman repudiates.

William Walter Phelps was nominated for Congress by the Republicans of the Fifth Congressional District of New Jersey.

The German Catholics in convention at Milwaukee passed strong resolutions in favor of Catholic children attending parochial schools only.

On Friday night a woman and her five children, named Bush, were drowned near Heathsville, Northumberland Co., Va., the building in which they were living being washed away by the flood.

Upon application by counsel to some of the creditors a Baltimore Court has appointed a receiver to wind up the affairs of the Yorktown Centennial Association.

Money has been received from the Treasury Department to pay deputy marshals in Philadelphia for their services in the election of 1880.

A well defined shock of earthquake was felt in St. Louis, Mo.; Springfield and Centralia, Ill., and Vincennes, Ind.

The damages by the Panama earthquake was not so serious as at first reported. Four persons have died from the effect of the shock.

Food stores eaten for mushrooms in Pennsylvania have caused two deaths and the sickness of five or six more persons.

Sir Henry Hallford, with eleven members of the British rifle team, settled for Liverpool Tuesday by the steamer Arizona.

The search for the title fish by Captain Joseph W. Collins, of Gloucester, has resulted in the discovery of a new and delicious food fish.

A colored miser died in Philadelphia, eighty-four years old, in the midst of poverty, though he owned property worth $100,000.

The destruction of the sugar refinery of Harris, Havemeyer & Co., in Philadelphia, involves the loss of fully $1,000,000.

Two premature explosions occurred at Castle William in the New York harbor, on Monday, while a salute of twenty-one guns was being fired, and several soldiers were horribly mangled.

Two died afterward, and four others are in a dangerous condition.

Fifteen cars containing a portion of Salt Brothers' Circus were thrown down an embankment near Point Look, Ky., on Monday; three persons were killed and eleven injured.

Through neglect in flagging train an accident occurred on the Rome, Watertown and Ogdensburg Railroad, by which one man was killed and others injured.

The failure of Alonso Follet, a well known Wall street note broker, caused great excitement down town. Contradictory accounts of the affair are rampant and sensational disclosures to come are hinted at. About $1,000,000 are involved.

Injury to the corn crop by the frost is reported from Illinois.

An accident at the Dodson coal mine, near Wilkesbarre, Pa., caused the death of three men, and another in Leavenworth, Mo., killed one and injured three more.

Expert thieves snatched $12,000 worth of bonds from a desk in the Bank of Baltimore and made off with them.

The General of the army has issued an order assigning Major General Schofield to the command of the Military Division of the Pacific, to take the place of Major Gen. McDowell, who is about to retire from active service.

The steamer Elean, bound from New York to Amsterdam, was run down and sunk at sea by the Lepanto. All her passengers and crew were saved except two engineers, who were killed in the collision.

A boy of fourteen years killed himself in New Hampshire because his mother reproved him.

A New York city saloon-keeper's wife is in danger of death from a wound inflicted from a pistol aimed at her, as she says, "in fun."

The great storm of last week caused much havoc, especially in New Jersey. Bridges and buildings on the banks of streams were swept away and railroads were rendered impassable. Millions of the storm are scattered over the Atlantic slope from New England to the Carolinas, and its ravages extend far into the interior. Railroads were washed out in many places, trains and mails were delayed and some lives were lost. The whole rainfall in New York City in four days was 6.17 inches. The aggregate damage throughout the country is to be reckoned by millions.

The Emperor and Empress of Russia were secretly crowned during their visit to Moscow to see the exhibition. The Emperor survives the public crowning the late ceremony will be declared void.

Robespierre's Death.

Was the wound of Robespierre, received on the famous Neuf Thoridore, self-inflicted or was it due to the general's death? This is the question.

Robespierre decided at length to put an end to his career, and found in this case to which he was driven courage to kill himself. He discharged a pistol at his head, but the bullet, entering below the lips, pierced his cheek and inflicted a wound that was scarcely dangerous.

Carlyle draws a picture of Robespierre "sitting on a chair with a pistol-shot blown through, not his head, but his under jaw; the suicidal hand had failed," and says concerning Meda's assertion that it was he who shot Robespierre: "Few credit Meda in what was otherwise incredible."

On the other hand, M. Leo Joubert, in his "Nouvelle Biographie Generale," summing up the conclusions of various historians, is not even at the trouble to mention the report of suicide. His words are: "Robespierre was seated in a fauteuil, his left elbow resting on his left hand; before him were seven papers, among which was, stained with his blood, an appeal to insurrection, which bears only the first two letters of the word 'insurrection'."

The German government intends to devote its attention to the execution of a project for the construction of a canal connecting the North Sea with the Baltic.

A telegram from Tunis reports that near Kairwan recently a band of marauders attacked a party of sixty horsemen belonging to a French topographical expedition. The French commander was killed and seven of his men were disabled. The brigands lost thirty killed and fifty wounded.

While a mixed passenger and baggage train was crossing the River Drive, near Eazel, a part of the bridge fell in, and the engine and baggage cars were pitched into the river, dragging with them some of the passenger cars containing a number of Hussars on a tour.

Eighteen soldiers were drowned and thirty others were injured.

Six thousand miners in North Staffordshire have demanded an advance of ten per cent. in their wages.

Admiral Seymour and General Wolsley are to be raised to the British peerage on account of their services in Egypt.

Mr. Gladstone declares that he is unable to interfere with the operations of the Mormons in England.

Friedrich Wöhler, the eminent German chemist, is dead.

Arabi Pasha regrets that he fought the English troops, expresses admiration for Great Britain, and counsels the exiling of the leaders of the rebellion. Among Arabi's papers were found orders of service from French, German and Russian officers, which had all been declined.

Mr. Dillon announces that he will retire from Parliament on account of ill health.

Fifty Irish families have been evicted in the Barony of Ferris, and the people have been ordered not to shelter them.

No Room for Such a Small Soul.

A citizen of Michigan who has something of a reputation for his infidel views and arguments happened to meet seven or eight clergymen at a railroad station as they were waiting to take the train for Great Britain, and counsels the exiling of the leaders of the rebellion. Among Arabi's papers were found orders of service from French, German and Russian officers, which had all been declined.

Mr. Dillon announces that he will retire from Parliament on account of ill health.

Fifty Irish families have been evicted in the Barony of Ferris, and the people have been ordered not to shelter them.

No Room for Such a Small Soul.

A citizen of Michigan who has something of a reputation for his infidel views and arguments happened to meet seven or eight clergymen at a railroad station as they were waiting to take the train for Great Britain, and counsels the exiling of the leaders of the rebellion. Among Arabi's papers were found orders of service from French, German and Russian officers, which had all been declined.

Mr. Dillon announces that he will retire from Parliament on account of ill health.

Fifty Irish families have been evicted in the Barony of Ferris, and the people have been ordered not to shelter them.

No Room for Such a Small Soul.

A citizen of Michigan who has something of a reputation for his infidel views and arguments happened to meet seven or eight clergymen at a railroad station as they were waiting to take the train for Great Britain, and counsels the exiling of the leaders of the rebellion. Among Arabi's papers were found orders of service from French, German and Russian officers, which had all been declined.

Mr. Dillon announces that he will retire from Parliament on account of ill health.

Fifty Irish families have been evicted in the Barony of Ferris, and the people have been ordered not to shelter them.

No Room for Such a Small Soul.

A citizen of Michigan who has something of a reputation for his infidel views and arguments happened to meet seven or eight clergymen at a railroad station as they were waiting to take the train for Great Britain, and counsels the exiling of the leaders of the rebellion. Among Arabi's papers were found orders of service from French, German and Russian officers, which had all been declined.

Mr. Dillon announces that he will retire from Parliament on account of ill health.

Fifty Irish families have been evicted in the Barony of Ferris, and the people have been ordered not to shelter them.

No Room for Such a Small Soul.

A citizen of Michigan who has something of a reputation for his infidel views and arguments happened to meet seven or eight clergymen at a railroad station as they were waiting to take the train for Great Britain, and counsels the exiling of the leaders of the rebellion. Among Arabi's papers were found orders of service from French, German and Russian officers, which had all been declined.

Mr. Dillon announces that he will retire from Parliament on account of ill health.

Fifty Irish families have been evicted in the Barony of Ferris, and the people have been ordered not to shelter them.

No Room for Such a Small Soul.

A citizen of Michigan who has something of a reputation for his infidel views and arguments happened to meet seven or eight clergymen at a railroad station as they were waiting to take the train for Great Britain, and counsels the exiling of the leaders of the rebellion. Among Arabi's papers were found orders of service from French, German and Russian officers, which had all been declined.

Mr. Dillon announces that he will retire from Parliament on account of ill health.

Fifty Irish families have been evicted in the Barony of Ferris, and the people have been ordered not to shelter them.

No Room for Such a Small Soul.

A citizen of Michigan who has something of a reputation for his infidel views and arguments happened to meet seven or eight clergymen at a railroad station as they were waiting to take the train for Great Britain, and counsels the exiling of the leaders of the rebellion. Among Arabi's papers were found orders of service from French, German and Russian officers, which had all been declined.

Mr. Dillon announces that he will retire from Parliament on account of ill health.

Fifty Irish families have been evicted in the Barony of Ferris, and the people have been ordered not to shelter them.

No Room for Such a Small Soul.

A citizen of Michigan who has something of a reputation for his infidel views and arguments happened to meet seven or eight clergymen at a railroad station as they were waiting to take the train for Great Britain, and counsels the exiling of the leaders of the rebellion. Among Arabi's papers were found orders of service from French, German and Russian officers, which had all been declined.

Mr. Dillon announces that he will retire from Parliament on account of ill health.

Fifty Irish families have been evicted in the Barony of Ferris, and the people have been ordered not to shelter them.

No Room for Such a Small Soul.

A citizen of Michigan who has something of a reputation for his infidel views and arguments happened to meet seven or eight clergymen at a railroad station as they were waiting to take the train for Great Britain, and counsels the exiling of the leaders of the rebellion. Among Arabi's papers were found orders of service from French, German and Russian officers, which had all been declined.

Mr. Dillon announces that he will retire from Parliament on account of ill health.

Fifty Irish families have been evicted in the Barony of Ferris, and the people have been ordered not to shelter them.

No Room for Such a Small Soul.

A citizen of Michigan who has something of a reputation for his infidel views and arguments happened to meet seven or eight clergymen at a railroad station as they were waiting to take the train for Great Britain, and counsels the exiling of the leaders of the rebellion. Among Arabi's papers were found orders of service from French, German and Russian officers, which had all been declined.

Mr. Dillon announces that he will retire from Parliament on account of ill health.

Fifty Irish families have been evicted in the Barony of Ferris, and the people have been ordered not to shelter them.

No Room for Such a Small Soul.

A citizen of Michigan who has something of a reputation for his infidel views and arguments happened to meet seven or eight clergymen at a railroad station as they were waiting to take the train for Great Britain, and counsels the exiling of the leaders of the rebellion. Among Arabi's papers were found orders of service from French, German and Russian officers, which had all been declined.

Mr. Dillon announces that he will retire from Parliament on account of ill health.

Fifty Irish families have been evicted in the Barony of Ferris, and the people have been ordered not to shelter them.

No Room for Such a Small Soul.

A citizen of Michigan who has something of a reputation for his infidel views and arguments happened to meet seven or eight clergymen at a railroad station as they were waiting to take the train for Great Britain, and counsels the exiling of the leaders of the rebellion. Among Arabi's papers were found orders of service from French, German and Russian officers, which had all been declined.

Mr. Dillon announces that he will retire from Parliament on account of ill health.

Fifty Irish families have been evicted in the Barony of Ferris, and the people have been ordered not to shelter them.

No Room for Such a Small Soul.

A citizen of Michigan who has something of a reputation for his infidel views and arguments happened to meet seven or eight clergymen at a railroad station as they were waiting to take the train for Great Britain, and counsels the exiling of the leaders of the rebellion. Among Arabi's papers were found orders of service from French, German and Russian officers, which had all been declined.

Mr. Dillon announces that he will retire from Parliament on account of ill health.

Fifty Irish families have been evicted in the Barony of Ferris, and the people have been ordered not to shelter them.

No Room for Such a Small Soul.

A citizen of Michigan who has something of a reputation for his infidel views and arguments happened to meet seven or eight clergymen at a railroad station as they were waiting to take the train for Great Britain, and counsels the exiling of the leaders of the rebellion. Among Arabi's papers were found orders of service from French, German and Russian officers, which had all been declined.

Mr. Dillon announces that he will retire from Parliament on account of ill health.

Fifty Irish families have been evicted in the Barony of Ferris, and the people have been ordered not to shelter them.

No Room for Such a Small Soul.

A citizen of Michigan who has something of a reputation for his infidel views and arguments happened to meet seven or eight clergymen at a railroad station as they were waiting to take the train for Great Britain, and counsels the exiling of the leaders of the rebellion. Among Arabi's papers were found orders of service from French, German and Russian officers, which had all been declined.

Mr. Dillon announces that he will retire from Parliament on account of ill health.

Fifty Irish families have been evicted in the Barony of Ferris, and the people have been ordered not to shelter them.

No Room for Such a Small Soul.

A citizen of Michigan who has something of a reputation for his infidel views and arguments happened to meet seven or eight clergymen at a railroad station as they were waiting to take the train for Great Britain, and counsels the exiling of the leaders of the rebellion. Among Arabi's papers were found orders of service from French, German and Russian officers, which had all been declined.

Mr. Dillon announces that he will retire from Parliament on account of ill health.

Fifty Irish families have been evicted in the Barony of Ferris, and the people have been ordered not to shelter them.

No Room for Such a Small Soul.

A citizen of Michigan who has something of a reputation for his infidel views and arguments happened to meet seven or eight clergymen at a railroad station as they were waiting to take the train for Great Britain, and counsels the exiling of the leaders of the rebellion. Among Arabi's papers were found orders of service from French, German and Russian officers, which had all been declined.

Mr. Dillon announces that he will retire from Parliament on account of ill health.

Fifty Irish families have been evicted in the Barony of Ferris, and the people have been ordered not to shelter them.

No Room for Such a Small Soul.

Robespierre's Death.

Was the wound of Robespierre, received on the famous Neuf Thoridore, self-inflicted or was it due to the general's death? This is the question.

Robespierre decided at length to put an end to his career, and found in this case to which he was driven courage to kill himself. He discharged a pistol at his head, but the bullet, entering below the lips, pierced his cheek and inflicted a wound that was scarcely dangerous.

Carlyle draws a picture of Robespierre "sitting on a chair with a pistol-shot blown through, not his head, but his under jaw; the suicidal hand had failed," and says concerning Meda's assertion that it was he who shot Robespierre: "Few credit Meda in what was otherwise incredible."

On the other hand, M. Leo Joubert, in his "Nouvelle Biographie Generale," summing up the conclusions of various historians, is not even at the trouble to mention the report of suicide. His words are: "Robespierre was seated in a fauteuil, his left elbow resting on his left hand; before him were seven papers, among which was, stained with his blood, an appeal to insurrection, which bears only the first two letters of the word 'insurrection'."

The German government intends to devote its attention to the execution of a project for the construction of a canal connecting the North Sea with the Baltic.

A telegram from Tunis reports that near Kairwan recently a band of marauders attacked a party of sixty horsemen belonging to a French topographical expedition. The French commander was killed and seven of his men were disabled. The brigands lost thirty killed and fifty wounded.

While a mixed passenger and baggage train was crossing the River Drive, near Eazel, a part of the bridge fell in, and the engine and baggage cars were pitched into the river, dragging with them some of the passenger cars containing a number of Hussars on a tour.

Eighteen soldiers were drowned and thirty others were injured.

Six thousand miners in North Staffordshire have demanded an advance of ten per cent. in their wages.

Admiral Seymour and General Wolsley are to be raised to the British peerage on account of their services in Egypt.

Mr. Gladstone declares that he is unable to interfere with the operations of the Mormons in England.

Friedrich Wöhler, the eminent German chemist, is dead.

Arabi Pasha regrets that he fought the English troops, expresses admiration for Great Britain, and counsels the exiling of the leaders of the rebellion. Among Arabi's papers were found orders of service from French, German and Russian officers, which had all been declined.

Mr. Dillon announces that he will retire from Parliament on account of ill health.

Fifty Irish families have been evicted in the Barony of Ferris, and the people have been ordered not to shelter them.

No Room for Such a Small Soul.

A citizen of Michigan who has something of a reputation for his infidel views and arguments happened to meet seven or eight clergymen at a railroad station as they were waiting to take the train for Great Britain, and counsels the exiling of the leaders of the rebellion. Among Arabi's papers were found orders of service from French, German and Russian officers, which had all been declined.

Mr. Dillon announces that he will retire from Parliament on account of ill health.

Fifty Irish families have been evicted in the Barony of Ferris, and the people have been ordered not to shelter them.

No Room for Such a Small Soul.

A citizen of Michigan who has something of a reputation for his infidel views and arguments happened to meet seven or eight clergymen at a railroad station as they were waiting to take the train for Great Britain, and counsels the exiling of the leaders of the rebellion. Among Arabi's papers were found orders of service from French, German and Russian officers, which had all been declined.

Mr. Dillon announces that he will retire from Parliament on account of ill health.

Fifty Irish families have been evicted in the Barony of Ferris, and the people have been ordered not to shelter them.

No Room for Such a Small Soul.

A citizen of Michigan who has something of a reputation for his infidel views and arguments happened to meet seven or eight clergymen at a railroad station as they were waiting to take the train for Great Britain, and counsels the exiling of the leaders of the rebellion. Among Arabi's papers were found orders of service from French, German and Russian officers, which had all been declined.

Mr. Dillon announces that he will retire from Parliament on account of ill health.

Fifty Irish families have been evicted in the Barony of Ferris, and the people have been ordered not to shelter them.

No Room for Such a Small Soul.

A citizen of Michigan who has something of a reputation for his infidel views and arguments happened to meet seven or eight clergymen at a railroad station as they were waiting to take the train for Great Britain, and counsels the exiling of the leaders of the rebellion. Among Arabi's papers were found orders of service from French, German and Russian officers, which had all been declined.

Mr. Dillon announces that he will retire from Parliament on account of ill health.

Fifty Irish families have been evicted in the Barony of Ferris, and the people have been ordered not to shelter them.

No Room for Such a Small Soul.

A citizen of Michigan who has something of a reputation for his infidel views and arguments happened to meet seven or eight clergymen at a railroad station as they were waiting to take the train for Great Britain, and counsels the exiling of the leaders of the rebellion. Among Arabi's papers were found orders of service from French, German and Russian officers, which had all been declined.

Mr. Dillon announces that he will retire from Parliament on account of ill health.

Fifty Irish families have been evicted in the Barony of Ferris, and the people have been ordered not to shelter them.

No Room for Such a Small Soul.

A citizen of Michigan who has something of a reputation for his infidel views and arguments happened to meet seven or eight clergymen at a railroad station as they were waiting to take the train for Great Britain, and counsels the exiling of the leaders of the rebellion. Among Arabi's papers were found orders of service from French, German and Russian officers, which had all been declined.

Mr. Dillon announces that he will retire from Parliament on account of ill health.

Fifty Irish families have been evicted in the Barony of Ferris, and the people have been ordered not to shelter them.

No Room for Such a Small Soul.

A citizen of Michigan who has something of a reputation for his infidel views and arguments happened to meet seven or eight clergymen at a railroad station as they were waiting to take the train for Great Britain, and counsels the exiling of the leaders of the rebellion. Among Arabi's papers were found orders of service from French, German and Russian officers, which had all been declined.

Mr. Dillon announces that he will retire from Parliament on account of ill health.

Fifty Irish families have been evicted in the Barony of Ferris, and the people have been ordered not to shelter them.

No Room for Such a Small Soul.

A citizen of Michigan who has something of a reputation for his infidel views and arguments happened to meet seven or eight clergymen at a railroad station as they were waiting to take the train for Great Britain, and counsels the exiling of the leaders of the rebellion. Among Arabi's papers were found orders of service from French, German and Russian officers, which had all been declined.

Mr. Dillon announces that he will retire from Parliament on account of ill health.

Fifty Irish families have been evicted in the Barony of Ferris, and the people have been ordered not to shelter them.

No Room for Such a Small Soul.

A citizen of Michigan who has something of a reputation for his infidel views and arguments happened to meet seven or eight clergymen at a railroad station as they were waiting to take the train for Great Britain, and counsels the exiling of the leaders of the rebellion. Among Arabi's papers were found orders of service from French, German and Russian officers, which had all been declined.

Mr. Dillon announces that he will retire from Parliament on account of ill health.

Fifty Irish families have been evicted in the Barony of Ferris, and the people have been ordered not to shelter them.

No Room for Such a Small Soul.

A citizen of Michigan who has something of a reputation for his infidel views and arguments happened to meet seven or eight clergymen at a railroad station as they were waiting to take the train for Great Britain, and counsels the exiling of the leaders of the rebellion. Among Arabi's papers were found orders of service from French, German and Russian officers, which had all been declined.

Mr. Dillon announces that he will retire from Parliament on account of ill health.

Fifty Irish families have been evicted in the Barony of Ferris, and the people have been ordered not to shelter them.

No Room for Such a Small Soul.

A citizen of Michigan who has something of a reputation for his infidel views and arguments happened to meet seven or eight clergymen at a railroad station as they were waiting to take the train for Great Britain, and counsels the exiling of the leaders of the rebellion. Among Arabi's papers were found orders of service from French, German and Russian officers, which had all been declined.